

FOR IMMEDIATE RELEASE

Tournament with a difference- be part of it

Game Idol: The Fnatic Call of Duty 2 Academy 2007

London – July 10th – devotii launched in the UK June 29th, providing a new community based for PC gamers and the best in online team gaming within a cheat free environment.

The advanced secure clan tournament system will host the forthcoming Game Idol 2007 tournament, which presents the winners with a unique opportunity to join the world elite pro gaming team, Fnatic, to compete in the World Series of Video Games to become the official number one clan in the world.

At least 128 clans with 640 players will compete to become the Fnatic Academy CoD2 2007 team. The Group Stages start 1st August 2007, followed by Elimination Stages starting 12th September 2007 - all played online on the devotii advanced and secure clan tournament system (www.devotii.com). The Crossfire devotii Challenge hosts the final in September 2007 live in the Netherlands at one of Europe's top gaming events (www.crossfire.nu).

To sponsor this event and reach 7+ million unique visitors per month contact devotii now.

- Sam: samuel.matthews@fnatic.com
- Paul: paul.sulyok@devotii.com
- Michael: michael.benson@devotii.com

About devotii

devotii is a unique subscription based online gaming offering devoted to making gaming easy; with advanced yet simple-to-use functionality in a secure environment using next generation propriety anti-cheat software. devotii is building a active gaming community with sophisticated social networking tools integrated with 'one-click-to-play' functionality. For more information about devotii please visit www.devotii.com

About fnatic

The Fnatic Team is a professional video gaming team, consisting of players from across the globe who all make a living through competing in video game tournaments.

The fnatic team won the ESPORTS TEAM OF THE YEAR AWARD 2006 and is considered to have world class squads in the games Counter-Strike, Quake 4, and Warcraft 3, World of Warcraft. For more information about fnatic please visit www.fnatic.com.